Town Elections Coming Next Month

In another month Town elections will be here. This year we are to elect a Mayor, and two Councilmen and two School Trustees. In the light of the past we will wait until 11.30 or 11.45 on election morning and then race around trying to fill a slate. And also in the light of the past we will spend the next eleven months finding fault with the men we choose.

Wouldn't it be the part of wisdom to approach the men we want a week or two in advance and get their mind working on the question and give them a chance to think it over. Then too, wouldn't it show more respect to them, even if we renominated the same slate to approach them at least a few days before nomination respecting their carrying on.

Criticism is one of the BIG rewards of these thankless public positions and everyone more or less expects it. However, when we fail to make the best use of the election opportunities that our franchise grants us, then instead of finding fault with the ones who are filling the offices, we should find fault with ourselves because of our laxity in discharging our responsibilities as burgesses in our Town.

CBC Actress

Featured here beside a CBS microphone in Hollywood is Anna Whitley, part and vivacious radio actress, who is home again in Canada star in CBC network drama productions after several years in the United States. On Friday she played the leading role in "The Screaming Society," a play which she had written in collaboration with her husband, Bill Whitley, of Vancouver. Before returning to star in network dramas on the

Knowledge Is Power Not Wisdom

SCIENCE HAS GONE AHEAD SO FAST MAN CAN SPEND FIFTY YEARS JUST LEARNING HOW TO USE WHAT HE ALREADY KNOWS

(By Robert A. MINKIN)

Back in 1825 my grandfather and his young wife loaded their earthly possessions into a covered wagon in Stockbridge, Massachusetts, and then started the long, hazardous, painstaking journey to reach the Western Reserve in Ohio, where they settled. Again in 1838, looking for new adventure, they moved at a speed of ten miles a day or so to the banks of the Rock River in western Illinois.

The conditions of that migration, the motives prompting it, the mode of travel of the emigrants, their various ways of solving their problems, their whole outlook on life, were extraordinarily like those which existed 4,000 years earlier when Abraham trekked westward from Ur of the Chaldees. Today we smile incredulously, yet that is the truth.

For thousands of years the world in some respects stood virtually still. Men lived by guesses. Ulysses and Venus sacrificed a bullock each morning to the eternal gods, and charted the course of their ships by ancient methods. An intently ridiculous procedure you say yet I remember that my own grandmother used to carry a dried potato in her pocket to ward off rheumatism.

It bears repeating that the Western world has in the past 160 years seen more changes in the external conditions under which the average man lives and also in his beliefs and fundamental conceptions, than occurred during all the preceding 4,000 years.

If you ask me to put into one sentence the cause of that rapid and remarkable change, I should reply it is to be found in the discovery and utilization of the means whereby heat energy can be made to do man's work for him. The key to the whole development is found in the use of power machines. In America, for example, even before the war, 125 horsepower hours—the equivalent of 100 human slaves—were at work each day for every citizen producing food, clothing, automobiles, houses, radios and other goods and services.

The uses of power have caused the most profound social changes in the world's history. It is why we no longer drive our ships with human slaves chained to the oars, as did the Romans and Greeks. That is why we no longer enslave whole peoples, as the Egyptians did, for building our public structures and lash them to their tasks. That is why ten times as many boys and girls are in the high schools in the United States today as were there in 1890—5 million now, only half a million then. That is why we have the eight hour day instead of the 12 or 14 hour day. And it is why the modern person has, on the average, 484 wants, of which 34 are necessities, whereas a century ago average individuals had but 52 wants of which 16 were necessities.

Knowledge is power—make no mistake about that. It is a most useful servant, too, but it is not per se destructive. The incredible airplane as a weapon of war can slay human beings or as a mercy ship it can retrieve the wounded. Whether the power released by knowledge is to be used for bettering human life or for worsening it is determined by a higher attainment—namely, wisdom, to direct power for man's betterment.

We may produce 10 million automobiles a year—yes, but how are they to be used? Are we going to kill 75,000 people a year with them instead of 35,000 as we in the United States of America now do? Or will we learn the good housewifery and courtesy of giving the other driver a chance, or allowing the pedestrian the right of way, or taking the aged, the sick, or the poor for a ride?

We may have television—but will we throw on the screen in our homes the excitement of great dramas, scenes of beauty, and human-interest events that inspire as well as entertain or will we present to our wondering child, the horrors of murder, the dead bodies of gangsters, and the squalor which is so rampant today?

We may build more new buildings than ever we have built before but will their effort be to enrich human life or to degrade it, to enhance education and religion or to set them back?

The last 100 years have been the greatest century in human history for invention and discovery that fundamentally changed the course of civilization. The next 50 or 100 years should be utilized not merely for refinements, improvements, and extensions in the field of power, but also for learning to use man's new techniques more wisely. I believe it is possible with their aid to solve that greatest of all problems; the creation of a new era of worldwide and lasting peace.

Our great problem of the new post-war era will be not how to produce, but how to use; not how to create, but how to cooperate; not how to make and kill, but how to live. —Guest, Editor at Large from the January Rotarian.

NEWS NOTES

Miss Afton Christensen is leaving Sunday for Medicine Hat, Alberta, where she has enrolled in the Garbutt Business School for a business course.

Don Rodback has purchased the Keith Nilsson home and is taking possession at once. He has been living in Iowa since November 1 in the small home he purchased last fall just east of Frank Dawley's.

P.O. Dick Kinsey is spending a leave at home after having his foot treated in the Military Hospital for quite a long while. His foot is getting along fine and Dick is surely pleased at the results.

A fire started under the Christmas tree at the Mrs. Myrtle Williams home on the Saturday night before Christmas when the tree decorations caught fire. Mrs. Williams heard the crackling of the flames and rushed in and took the burning things outside and saved serious damage.

Sir Bertram Ramsey, one of the highest officials in the Allied Nations' Royal Air Force, will be in a plane crash today while traveling in the line of duty. He helped evacuate the army from Dunkerque, and he was also one of the key planners when Allied troops were landed in Normandy on D Day. His loss will be keenly felt by the British Military authorities.

Income Tax Deductions

Now secure an income tax deduction of 20 per cent of the amount contributed (but not exceeding $400.00) to the support of a daughter under twenty-one years of age training as a nurse at a public provincially-declared private hospital. This announcement is made by Miss Fanny Munroe, President of the Canadian Nurses Association, following the passing of a clause in the Bill on national finance at the last session of the House of Commons.

"This income-tax deduction is applicable also to the sister or brother of a dependent sister under twenty-one training at such a hospital," added Miss Munroe.

"This income-tax deduction is application will meet with strong approval on the part of many parents who have been concerned about the lack of recognition of this type of student training. It is also strongly endorsed by the Canadian Nurses Association, who have encountered this approved by directors of Schools of Nursing from parents of prospective students."

It is pointed out that a larger exemption is not allowed because major expenses of nursing students are provided by the hospital at which they receive training.

On the subject of income tax deductions for parents of student nurses, C. F. Elliott, Deputy Minister of National Revenue (Taxation), stated: "We are or should be very conscious of the splendid work done by nurses and of the necessarily intense training which present conditions require be given to student nurses."

"Perhaps nurses above all others fill a place that should receive sympathetic consideration, and parents should be encouraged to send their children to this kind of work which is so vitally required and is of such great human value."

"Not only the medical profession but others are conscious of their splendid service, their high educational and other ever-increasing requirements as science and the nursing progress."

Mr. and Mrs. Bus Murdoch spent the New Year holidays here with Mrs. Murdoch's mother, Mrs. Rae L. Selman.

Well we've passed the winter equinox and the days are commencing to lengthen a bit although the date it isn't very noticeable. Now we can start looking for spring and planning our gardens.

The Basketball tournament held between Christmas and New Year's in Magrath Hi School Gym resulted in victory for Raymond when they defeated Cardston the first night and locked horns with Stirling the second night, which team had defeated Magrath on the first night. There were some very fast plays during the two evenings despite the fact that the teams have not been in intensive training for very long. Crowded galleries watched the games with interest.

The scores in the second night's game between Stirling and our local boys was as follows:

Stirling—C. Erickson 2, K. Spackman 4, D. Christensen 6, C. Brandley, T. Fisher 5, D. Erickson 6. Total 23.

Raymond—M. Adams 10, S. Nalder 2, B. Leavitt 11, N. Fairbanks 6, T. Brewerton 5, L. Fairbanks, Rolfeen, Walker, Ball, King. Total 34.

NEWS NOTES

E. E. Reithman and Frank Atterton were busy this week decorating the interior of the Raymond Mercantile store.

The radiators in the Welling school froze up during the Christmas holidays and Jimmie Anderson and his help went out there Tuesday getting them in operation for school on Wednesday.

There was quite an exodus from Raymond Thursday and Friday evenings to Magrath when the annual High School tournament was staged in the Garden City. They were well repaid for their efforts as our local team "brought home the bacon."

The Opera House has been the focal point of the holiday dancing season with about six dances held there. Every night the large floor was filled with dancers and from remembrance we have heard everyone enjoyed every dance.

Wilford A. Heninger, who has been bothered with heart trouble or some months past has been ordered to bed for six months at least by his doctor. We sincerely hope that the rest will help our friend in recovering his health.

The University, Normal and Technical School students all returned to their texts and studies on Wednesday. Raymond has about fifteen of her young people in the halls of higher learning this year, maybe more. We're just making an estimate from memory.

WEDDINGS

Miss Eleanor Stutz, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stutz, was married to Stanley Cook of Raymond, son of Frank Cook of Magrath. The wedding took place at the home of the bride with President E. J. Wood performing the ceremony. The rooms were decorated for the occasion with fountains of white and silver stars, bells and Xmas cactus and ferns. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Bill Bennett. The bride looked lovely in a white floor-length dress, wearing a corsage of pink roses. The bridesmaid was Agnes Udall, who wore a pale green sheer. Best man was Norman Cook of Magrath, brother to the groom.

After the wedding party the newly weds left for a short honeymoon to points unknown. The bride wore brown with green accessories. They will make their future home in Raymond. For the past two years Eleanor has been teaching school in Raymond. —Cardston News.

Students in High & Public Schools trooped back to their desks Wednesday morning after about two weeks holiday. The weather was not severe during the vacation and skating was the popular pastime.

NEWS NOTES

Miss Rowena McMullin spent a short leave at home during the Xmas holidays.

Mrs. A. D. Tiltack spent the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Parley McBride.

LAC Nova O'Brien, stationed at Calgary spent Christmas holidays with her mother and other relatives here in Raymond.

Cal Lindwall of Magrath was a Raymond visitor with friends on New Year's Day and for the dance that evening.

Mrs. Ruth Kitchen Walker is home from the hospital with her new baby and is looking fine and Ralph and Ruth are receiving the congratulations of their friends on their Xmas present (almost).

A family dinner was held at the Parley McBride home on New Year's Day when all the children except the two boys, Lloyd and Harold who are overseas, were at home. Mrs. Lloyd McBride of Calgary was also present at the family reunion.

GREET THE NEW YEAR

Happy New Year folks and many of them. We have 12 months ahead of us now to do the thousand and one things we didn't do during 1944. As we look back on 1944 it has been a year of momentous and history making events. As one casts the imagination into the future, 1945 may be fraught with even more and bigger events. What will the status of the nations of the world be when the curtain goes down on 1945? Will the Allied Nations still be fighting it out with the Axis, or by some fate will the lineup of the powers have changed by that time? Is it impossible? Why should such a change take place? Well, we wouldn't attempt to say, but the speed of changes in these days puts everything within the realm of possibility.

And what of things closer at home.

What will the crop season be? How many of the boys and girls will be home and how many more gone? Will the year mark a period of progress in our community? There is much that could be done in this respect. We need an overhaul of our water system, our sidewalks need repairing or rebuilding, we should surface a couple of blocks of our main street and we are in dire need of a sewage system. Too much for one year, of course, but what one of these new years will we choose to make a start? Surely it shall be soon. As individuals we could paint up an fix up, probably boulevard our streets some more and so on. A program of civic improvement and betterment headed by the City Dads would make our town a really inviting place and a place where people would want to make their home. That is as it should be because from the standpoint of opportunity for employment and new industries we have much to offer. Shall 1945 be an outstanding year, or just another year in Raymond's history.

To Have a Nest Egg

The housewife, planning for her kitchen of tomorrow; the business man thinking of post-war expansion; the farmer dreaming of new machinery in the years to come; all will need a "nest egg" of savings to make these dreams come true.

There are three savings plans offered by Treasury Branches, tailor-made to fit your needs. Your Treasury Branch manager will be glad to explain them in detail. See him soon, for your "nest egg of tomorrow!"

DON'T CONFUSE THE SIGNALS

War came. The manufacture of most civilian goods had to be cut down or stopped to make way for war production. That caused shortages of civilian goods—that was the RED LIGHT

don't jump the YELLOW light

Some restrictions are now being lifted, but it does not mean lots of goods right away. War's demands are still huge and must come first. We can't neglect them just so that some of us here at home can get a little more.

Don't confuse the signals—(This is the YELLOW LIGHT ONLY).

It means a little more of some things and it helps business men get ready for the time when there will be more materials and workers available.

It does not mean the end of shortages!

Getting back to peacetime production will necessarily be piecemeal and gradual.

"Patience" is the word.

it's NOT the green light yet

Only after Victory over both enemies can the Green Light be switched on, and the road cleared for enough production to meet all our civilian needs.

The POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE

Government of Alberta

To build a "WORK PILE"—a reservoir of jobs for our returning active service men and women, challenges every citizen and all forms of industry and business in Alberta. The key to adequate post-war rehabilitation is EMPLOYMENT.

WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

For the purpose of organizing and securing the co-operation of householders, farmers and business men throughout Alberta, a Survey Management Committee has been set up as a FACT FINDING BODY to seek out the location of jobs and job-making opportunities for the post-war WORK PILE.

25 REGIONS IN ALBERTA

The Province has been divided into 25 regions for the purpose of making a thorough and comprehensive job survey. Each region is headed by its own Regional Committee, located in a central community.

YOUR FACT-FINDER WILL CALL SOON

A representative from your Regional Committee will call on you during the period between January 15th and 31st. You can help by answering his questions willingly and accurately. The information will be of direct benefit to those who are now fighting our battles for us.

Unnecessary Loss

Stinking smut of wheat is increasing at an alarming rate. In the inspection year, August 1st, 1943, to July 31st, 1944, 363 ears graded 'smutty'. The year before, only 157. This year, from August 1st to December 17th, only four and a half months, 347 ears have been classed 'smutty'.

Farmers would be wise to remember the following facts:

1. Thatcher is more susceptible to stinking smut than any of the well known varieties except Red Bobs and Reward.
2. Cold soil provides favourable conditions for the development of the disease. Very early sowing and cold weather after sowing increase the likelihood of smut in the crop if the seed is smutty.
3. A farmer may get by with straight grade wheat for years in spite of the presence of some smut. Then, due to a gradual increase of the disease or a sudden increase due to particularly favourable conditions, he may suffer a loss of about $200.00 per ear as a result of smut.
4. Stinking smut causes loss in yields as well as in grade.
5. Treatment with a mercurial dust costs about 5 cents, plus labour and equipment, per bushel of seed.
6. Formalin often seriously retards and weakens germination and, thus, encourages weeds and reduces yields.
7. Seed treatment, properly carried out, will control the disease.

NEW DIRECTOR OF CENSORSHIP

The Minister of National War Services, Major General the Honourable L. R. LaFlèche, D.S.O., announced today that Mr. Wilfrid Eggleston, M.B.E., Director of Censorship since March 1st, 1944, was leaving the Government Service at the end of the calendar year and would return to newspaper life. Mr. Eggleston joined Press Censorship a few weeks after the outbreak of the war, and served as Chief Press Censor for Canada and as Chief Telegraph Censor before his most recent appointment.

He will be succeeded as Director of Censorship by the Deputy Director Mr. Fulgence Charpentier, M.B.E. Mr. Charpentier became Chief Press Censor for Canada early in 1940, and Deputy Director of Censorship in March, 1944.

In announcing Mr. Eggleston's departure, The Minister of National War Services stated that he had accepted his resignation with very deep regret and with the feeling that Mr. Eggleston had contributed invaluable services to his country.

The Minister added that Mr. Eggleston was with qualities of tact, impartiality, responsibility for the efficient and had discharged his important duties with a high standard of efficiency.

No more privacy than a goldfish

While bringing its policyholders all the advantages of competitive business, life insurance "lives in a glass house". It has no more privacy than a goldfish. Complete details of its operations are available to policyholders and the public at large, in the 700-page Annual Report of the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance, and in Provincial Reports.

Under the laws enacted at Confederation and constantly broadened and improved during the past 75 years, policyholders enjoy the double protection of both Dominion and Provincial supervision. They receive full information about the life insurance business in Canada: its investments, its policy funds, its contingency reserves, the volume of protection which it provides and, in fact, the whole detail of its operations. No other industry in Canada is under such continuous and experienced supervision.

Life insurance is the outstanding business example of private management under government supervision in the public interest. Within this democratic pattern, the faith that Canadians have in their life insurance has been vindicated through wars, epidemics, panics and depressions. Within this pattern, the interests of four million Canadian policyholders are safeguarded.

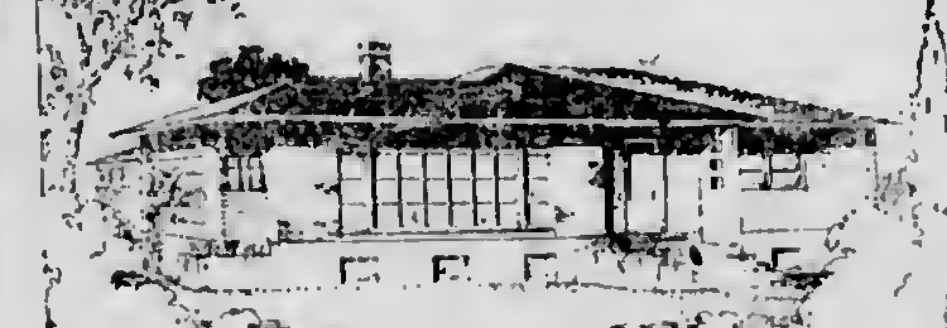

It is good citizenship to own LIFE INSURANCE
